BARBIZON, France, April 15.—(AP)—A police raid on a mysterious and secluded villa here today revealed that Leon Trotsky, exiled Soviet leader, had been living here for three months in secrecy, fearing attacks on his life.

Officers had surrounded the villa for 36 hours, thinking they had discovered a secret arms cache or a rendezvous of Stavisky gangsters.

Threats against Trotsky's life have kept him in flight from enemies for the past year, secret police revealed.

The "man without a country," who has wandered over Europe and Turkey since his fall from power in 1927, came to France from Corsica last July, stopping at Royat. Renewed threats against him brought authorization of the French government for him to hide, with Mrs. Trotsky, at Barbizon.

Planning 4th Internationale.
"I am an old conspirator," Trotsky told police, "I am now preparing for the fourth international."

A plumber who recently repaired pipes said he was mysteriously conducted to and from the villa and was locked in a room while at work.

Gossip reached the ears of the mayor of Barbizon and made him suspicious, coupled with the guarded comings and goings of strangers to the villa, on the outskirts of Barbizon and near Fontaineau, famous resort of artists.

Two vicious police dogs stood watch at the house, surrounded by a high wall, and made it necessary for the butler, the baker and other tradesmen to leave merchandise at the gate.

Postal authorities had not been able to identify the occupants because they never received mail from the local postoffice. Voluminous correspondence arrived each night by a motorcycle rider, who carried a pouch of it from Paris.

Surround House.
Gendarmes and detectives, armed to the teeth, surrounded the house yesterday and through last night. A magistrate, a public prosecutor and a clerk formed a searching party this morning.

The magistrate pounded on the door. After a long wait a woman opened it. The police entered warily, fearing to be greeted by a fusillade of bullets. Instead they were met by three Germans and a Pole who refused to answer questions.

Congressman Denies Effort To Conceal Identity in Crash

Former President of New York Stock Exchange
Badly Hurt as Representative Cannon's
Car Strikes Taxi at Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—Representative Raymond J. Cannon, Wisconsin democrat, tonight told police he was the driver of a car which early today struck a taxi cab in which three members of the New York Stock Exchange were riding. One was painfully injured.

Cannon told Lieutenant J. H. Lee he had given his name to a policeman at the scene of the accident, and had not reported it because they already "knew who I was."

The congressman, though making no formal charges against Policemen A. S. Douglas and W. J. Matthews, who made out the report and sent a lookout for the car, said he was "very indignant."

"There must be something wrong" with the policemen responsible, he said.

The three exchange members were on their way to the railroad station after attending a Gridiron Club dinner here last night.

E. H. H. Simmons, former president of the exchange, received a fractured shoulder blade in the collision, and was expected by physicians to remain at Emergency hospital for several days. The other two passengers, Allen N. Lindley, vice president of the exchange, and Herbert Walling, returned to New York after treatment. Wellington's lip was badly lacerated.

The automobile was found by police in a filling station near the capital, half a mile from the scene of the accident.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY TAKEN FROM RIVER SAYS AMBASSADOR

Pockets Turned Inside
Out, Police Believe Man
Was Robbery Victim.

The badly decomposed body of a man—with one peculiar circumstance suggesting robbery and murder—was taken from the Chattahoochee river about a mile south of Garrett's bridge early Sunday afternoon and removed to the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

A boy paddling a boat in the muddy waters saw the body caught in the limbs of a fallen tree about 25 feet offshore. Residents of the neighborhood informed Fulton county police headquarters and the policeman in turn called on Ed McGill, who has left his fishing camp on the river many times in recent years to pull men and women out of the river or to recover bodies.

McGill and officials of the mortuary establishment of Harry G. Poole estimated that the body had been in the water at least a week. They said a determination of the man's age was impossible. The body was clothed in a white shirt, dark blue lumber jacket, khaki pants, black high-top shoes and brown socks. The man was 5 feet 11 inches in height and appeared to weigh about 155 pounds.

Three pockets in the khaki pants had been turned inside out, a circumstance that caused county policemen to question whether the man had been robbed, murdered, and flung in the river. Search of the clothing revealed a dollar bill, nickel, and an automobile valve in the water pocket.

Members of the party questioned residents of the neighborhood but none could say that a man answering the description was missing. An inquest will be held at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the office of Harry G. Poole.

CAMPAIGN TO SELL REFUNDING BONDS WILL BE LAUNCHED

With Federal Relief
Funds at Stake, Council
To Create Special Citizens'
Committee Today.

Council this afternoon will pave the way for an intensive drive to sell $500,000 worth of 1934 refunding bonds of the municipality and thus insure continuation of federal relief here, when it votes to create a special citizens' committee to head a group to place the securities with business firms and private individuals.

Creation of the special committee is expected to be done without any concerted opposition, and it will be one of the major matters to face the council session.

If the bonds are sold, Atlanta will be able to meet a promise to pay $500,000 monthly to federal officials as a contribution of the municipality for continuation of federal relief expenditures in the city. About $500,000 is still being spent monthly in Atlanta and Fulton county.

Establishment of the citizens' group was decided upon at a special meeting of the finance committee held last Friday afternoon in the city hall.

It is designed to provide a market for the securities and thus eliminate the threat of Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia FERA administrator, that if Atlanta fails to make its agreed contribution, federal activities in Atlanta will cease.

Street Closing Sought.
Among other major matters slated to face the council at this afternoon's session will be action on closing of 10 streets in Techwood and University federal slum clearance projects which will cost about $500,000, and rezoning of the University area from dwelling house restrictions to allow apartments.

Proposals for street closings and for the rezoning will come today following announcement by federal PWA authorities that routine condemnation proceedings will be filed this week in the federal district court.

The step is necessary, it was pointed out by Robert D. Kohn, director of housing for the PWA, to obtain clear title to the property and to prevent the government from having to pay for the slum clearance projects in the nation, was promised.

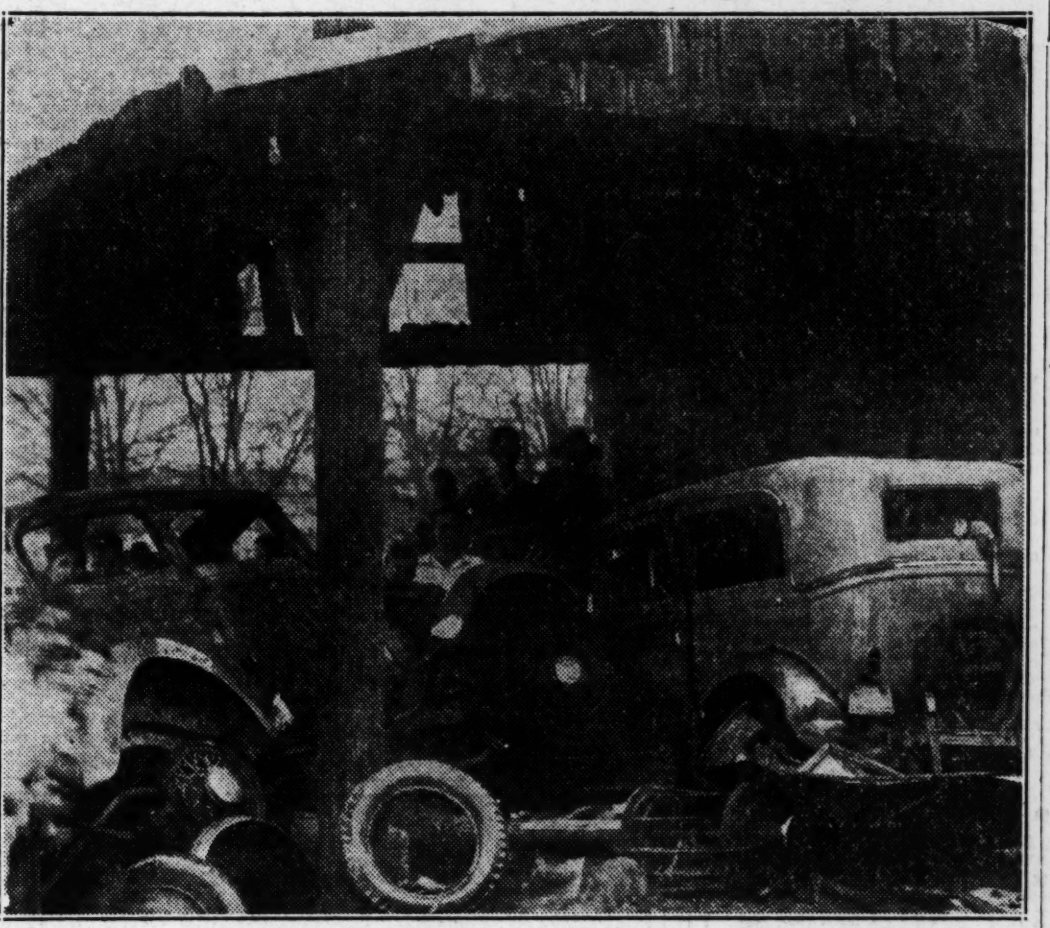

Henry Wright, PWA architect; Harold D. Hynds, of the PWA construction department, and E. D. Landau, of the legal department, proposed that the rezoning be done by Sunday were en route again to Washington.

Kohn stressed the fact that the government was not trying to displace the slum dwellers, but to obtain clear titles due to lapses in titles, to overlapping surveys and to other surveys, and to have faulty lines, and the letter sent to property owners pointed out that Adams-Cates Company and the Adair Realty Company will continue to represent the government in private negotiation for land at Atlanta University and Techwood, respectively, and that private rezoning will be the route chosen by federal authorities in obtaining title.

Condemnation To Be Rare.
Only in rare instances will condemnation be brought to obtain land from unwilling sellers, and in those isolated cases, the property owner will be given every reasonable consideration. It has been only in recent years that our relations with Turkey have been peaceful; prior to the new set-up in that country our nations were embroiled in hate for more than 700 years, to the detriment of both. Now, we can work in peace and harmony for the benefit of ours, thanks

What was left of two automobiles and a filling station after an overturned gasoline pump, seen to the right of the lower center, caught fire and caused severe burns to four persons. The car at the left, skidding into the pump, also struck the car at the right. Staff photo.

Four persons Sunday morning were burned and narrowly escaped being roasted alive at a Center Hill filling station, and three others were forced to flee through a rear window of the office, when a skidding car knocked over a gasoline pump and the fuel blazed up in a spectacular accident.

Seated in their car at Bakerstraw's filling station on the Bankhead highway, L. F. Green and J. E. Newman, of Center Hill, were waiting to be served with gasoline for their car when a machine bearing Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Torrant Jr., of 461 Calhoun street, N. E., skidded on the wet pavement, struck the gas pump and, realizing their danger, they broke a rear window of the filling station and escaped.

The four motorists were admitted to Grady hospital, and were said to be in "fair" condition Sunday night. It was believed that all would recover.

The filling station suffered considerable damage, the entire front end being burned.

KARL DANE, ACTOR, COMITS SUICIDE

Body of Immigrant Who Failed in Talkies Lies
Unclaimed.

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—(AP)—The body of Karl Dane, one of the silent screen's outstanding comedians, who found refuge from bitter disappointment in suicide, lay in the county morgue today, unclaimed.

The actor, who skyrocketed to fame in "The Big Parade," and later was arrested, shot himself to death in a modest apartment last night. He was penniless at the time, and had been living off the bounty of friends, although his salary at the time was reported to have been $1,500 weekly.

The coroner, announcing no inquest would be held, said the body would be released to a private undertaker as soon as anyone came to claim it.

Miss Frances Leake, who, with the manager of the apartment house discovered the body of the 47-year-old actor when they forced their way into the apartment after failing to get an answer, disclosed today the struggle Dane had made for a bare existence.

Dane lapsed into obscurity with the passing of the silent picture. His voice was unsuitable for talking pictures.

PRESIDENT SHAPES CONGRESS' COURSE FOR HOUSE HEADS

White House Also Wants
Municipal Bankruptcy
Bill Voted But Is Against Inflation and Bank Pay-

F. D. R. DISAPPROVES
VEGETABLE OIL TAX

House Today Will Be Asked To Approve Conference Report on Bankhead Cotton Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked house democratic leaders tonight to clear their program for the earliest possible adjournment date and informed them he would submit this week a general relief bill calling for about $1,500,000,000.

Speaker Rainey and Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the floor leader, assured Mr. Roosevelt at the three-hour White House conference, that the house would be ready to quit by the middle of May.

Rainey indicated that the president was inclined to favor some kind of silver action, but there was no sign that any legislation of this kind was agreed upon.

"We discussed all policies and general legislative plans," the speaker told reporters, "and did nothing in the way of decisions. The president wants us to get through as soon as possible. I think we can get away by the middle of May."

The $1,500,000,000 relief measure comes within the budget as submitted by the president at the opening of the session. At least $500,000,000 of this fund is to be earmarked for public works to stimulate employment. The Reconstruction Corporation will get another piece of this recovery fund.

It was said the McLeod bill, providing for payments to depositors in closed banks, was not discussed. The party leaders were uncertain what would happen in a vote on this measure.

Secretary Morgenthau joined the conference, which concluded two days of meetings by the president in organizing the legislative situation.

Taking hold of the reins of the legislative branch—which has been kicking over the traces—the chief executive emphasized in another series of White House conferences that the stock market regulation bill, reciprocal tariff bill, the municipal bankruptcy and guarantee bank deposit proposals should be placed on the statute books.

The controversial tax bill also is on the presidential legislative list but he does not want it until the excise tax on coconut and sesame oils. Mr. Roosevelt considers such a levy unfair to the Philippine Islands.

House Leaders Cautious.
Those summoned to the White House tonight were house leaders. The senate democratic chiefs met with Mr. Roosevelt for more than four hours yesterday. While the discussions were under way the general opinion was that some additional monetary legislation would be proposed.

It also was indicated the administration was opposed to action on the Federal Reserve bill, farm mortgage refinancing-inflation bill and the McLeod proposal to have the federal government pay off depositors in closed banks.

The president is ready to veto the general revenue bill because of the proposed tax of 3 cents a pound on Philippine oils and Senator Harrison, democratic Mississippi chairman of the finance committee, planned to ask the senate tomorrow to reconsider the bill, passed Friday. It has not yet reached the house, where opposition was voiced yesterday to many of the senate provisions increasing the total from $258,000,000 to $480,000,000.

Wagner Hits Obstructionism Of Certain Large Employers

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(UP)—The attitude of many large employers toward labor is hindering industrial peace and recovery, Chairman Robert F. Wagner, of the national labor board, charged tonight in a report showing a mounting wave of strikes throughout the country.

There were 218 strikes in March involving 139,000 workers, compared with 107 strikes involving 90,000 workers in February. Strikes settled in March were 189, compared with 51 in February. In each month 90 strikes were averted by the national and regional labor boards.

Since their creation, the labor boards have received 2,643 disputes of all kinds involving 1,375,293 workers. Second is the fact that a minority of large employers, whose following has not diminished, persist in an attitude which does not make for industrial peace and constitutes a heavy obstacle in the way of the work of the boards.

Commenting on these figures, Wagner said two points stood out: "First is the fact that the majority of employers and employees continue to make increased use of the boards. Second is the fact that a minority of large employers, whose following has not diminished, persist in an attitude which does not make for industrial peace and constitutes a heavy obstacle in the way of the work of the boards."

BALKANS AT PEACE, SAYS AMBASSADOR to the intelligent rule of Mustafa Kemal in Turkey.

"Greece has a government very similar to that of the United States, with a president and two legislative houses, but our party system is somewhat different. In America, the party makes the man. In our country, the leader makes the party," said Ambassador Simopoulos.

Impressed by South.

The Grecian diplomat is a man of distinguished appearance, whose upturned mustaches set off a strong face. His perfect English and courteous manner attract at once, and his long experience in diplomatic work gives him a wealth of knowledge for interesting conversation. He has been ambassador to the United States for 10 years, and for 33 years previous was the Greek representative in Turkey, Egypt, Bulgaria, Italy, France, England, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

This is his first visit to the south, and it has impressed him greatly, he said. "I see that your weatherman hit it right for today," he commented, glancing out of a Baltimore window at an overcast, forbidding sky. "I like your city very much, and can well imagine that it must be exceedingly beautiful on one of your real sunny south days."

Developing Agriculturally.

In discussing the situation of his country in regard to world trade, Ambassador Simopoulos said that most of the exports of Greece are semi-luxuries, olives, olive oil, figs, and similar products, and the country realizes the necessity of developing industrially and agriculturally. It is making important progress along those lines, he said. The manufacture of silk, a business which has existed in Greece for hundreds of years, is being developed with remarkable success.

"Greece is a country with many stones, but nature has compensated us for our poor soil by placing certain elements in the ground which make the Greek cigarette tobacco the finest in the world, and aid in bettering other products," he said.

Ambassador Simopoulos Sunday morning attended services at the Greek Orthodox church, with Governor Eugene Talmadge as a guest. Sunday afternoon he was entertained at luncheon by Nick D. Chotas, president of the Greek community, with heads of Greek societies and local leaders as guests. A dinner was given Sunday night in his honor at the home of Robert L. Cooney, Atlanta manager of the New York Life Insurance Company, with which Mr. Chotas is connected.

Today's program for the distinguished visitor includes full military honors at Fort McPherson at 10:30 o'clock this morning, followed by an official reception by Governor Talmadge. The ambassador will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at 1 o'clock at the Biltmore, and will receive visitors at the Biltmore from 3 to 4:30 o'clock. He will attend a banquet at the Biltmore at 7:30 o'clock, with a dance following. He leaves Tuesday morning for Washington.

123-Year-Old Woman Dies At Home in Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Belle Rhynes, 123-year-old Irish woman, who attributed her long life to pipe-smoking and a philosophic outlook, died today at the Little Sisters of the Poor home.

She was born in Dublin, March 4, 1811, and came to America with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heights, when 11 years old. In early life she joined a circus with her husband, now many years dead, and performed as a snake charmer and dancer.

It was a matter of pride and principle with Mrs. Rhynes that she always took the things of life as they came. She had smoked a pipe for 112 years, she said, and it was to this, coupled with her philosophical outlook on life, that she laid her longevity.

On her 121st birthday, when feeling began to manifest itself strongly, Mrs. Rhynes said: "I'm as happy as a little pig in the sunshine, and they talk about me being old. Why, Uncle John Shell was 130 and he started out to get some wood to cook with when he fell dead in the yard." Shell was a one-time neighbor.

She was confirmed by the Most Rev. Michael J. Keyes, Catholic bishop of Savannah, on her 120th birthday and on that occasion received quantities of presents from her friends—including a pipe, roses, flowers, tobacco, candy and bedroom slippers were given her that time.

Last year Mrs. Rhynes took a marked interest in the political situation when Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated president on her birthday. She had just recovered from an illness when she learned of the inauguration and breakfasted in bed, topping things off by smoking her pipe. She never tried cigars. She said she had asthma for 101 years, but had been cured of that.

Tomorrow at 9 a. m. she will be buried in the Catholic cemetery. She has one living relative in America, a great-grandson, Joe McBee, of Louisville, Ky.

corporation counsel to determine whether any case should be made against himself or the taxi driver, but told newspapermen he would not request that charges be made against Myers. The hearing will take place as soon as Simmons is able to appear, police said.

Refusing to reveal the identities of two men in the automobile with him, except to say they were "from out of town," Cannon denied a statement by police that blood was on his car and said the only blood spilled was from one of the men, "who had nose bleed."

"There was no point to my running away," he said. "They had my license number and my name, and I had insurance."

Cannon said a police report "made out half an hour after the accident," named him as the driver of the car, though the police lookout gave only the license number and a description of the machine.

He said he was at his office this morning, but police made no effort to communicate with him. His call at police station, he said, was brought by a telephone call from relatives in Wisconsin who had seen an account of the accident in newspapers.

Cannon, serving his first term in the house, recently defended a colleague, Representative Shoemaker, farmer-labor, Minnesota, from charges filed as a result of an altercation with a cab driver. The case resulted in a mistrial, and Shoemaker, who lost by default a civil suit filed by the driver, yesterday asked that the case be reopened.

The Nicest
LAXATIVE
for Busy People

Just as autos have replaced horses, science has developed and proven a new, more thorough and prompt acting laxative called Feen-a-mint. Feen-a-mint is the delicious chewing gum laxative. It contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. Feen-a-mint is better than old-fashioned laxatives, because chewing distributes the laxative uniformly into the system, thus insuring a "full" action without shock or irritation to even the delicate digestive organs of children. The prompt, gentle but complete action of Feen-a-mint does not interfere with usual duties. Rid your system of constipation's headaches and sluggishness. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists everywhere.

Atlanta Is Not as Bad as Painted, Says Smoke Inspector A. W. Jones

Atlanta is not the smoke-burdened city it has been pictured in other states—but still, millions of dollars are pouring out of smokestacks and chimneys in the form of smoke and soot to settle upon the buildings and citizens.

That was the statement made by A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector, before the Atlanta Forum Association at its regular meeting in the Congressional Christian church Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Jones told his hearers that his efforts during the last few months had been directed along the lines of "fuel conservation, instead of smoke abatement," and that saving of fuel meant diminution of the smoke nuisance.

He said that one-fourth of all coal placed in the furnaces of Atlanta is wasted and that only the application of knowledge of engineering and modern equipment would cut down the loss.

During the war he was a conservator of coal for the United States government, he said, and quoted figures to show that during the last few months of the World War 50,000,000 tons of coal was saved through application of saving methods and machinery.

Mr. Jones said that while railroads and big industrial plants are careful to employ experienced firemen, smaller apartment houses and buildings consider such a course unnecessary.

He added that every boiler should be watched by one person who has no other job.

Defending the claims against Atlanta as unfounded, Mr. Jones said that only one office building and one hotel in the downtown area is without harnessing equipment—stoker control, oil burners, gas burners or city steam.

The inspector dwelt at length on the necessity of trained firemen who know the proper method of fuel conservation and also explained the proper manner of building and maintaining grate fires and stove-heating apparatus.

Mr. Jones said that the city crematory uses much of the valuable fuel left in ashes to keep the steam plant going and that in many instances from 30 to 50 per cent of the raw fuel is found in the refuse after it comes from the home furnace.

Pointing to this season as the time for cleaning furnaces in preparation for the next winter, he explained the method of procedure and recommended elimination of angles from pipes and smokestacks.

Leroy Loenker, professor of philosophy at Emory University, president of the Forum, presided at the meeting. At the close it was agreed that the best method of carrying the gospel of smoke elimination will be through various civic groups and the Parent-Teacher Association.

Greater Care Urged. Mr. Jones explained that in a ton of coal which costs $1.15 at the mines there is $15.50 worth of by-products, and that in the smoke and soot pouring from residential chimneys there is vast quantities of material for dyes, lipsticks for women, mouth-wash ingredients and many other valuable things.

Auto Overtakes Twice, Elderly Couple Unhurt

Motorists at Bolton on the Marietta highway rapped Sunday morning as they saw a light automobile bearing two elderly persons suddenly get out of control after leaving the tracks of the street railway, plunge down an embankment, turn over twice and land rightside up in expensive shrubbery of a horticulturist.

An ambulance of Harry G. Poole screamed to the scene, transferred an elderly man and an elderly woman to soft stretchers, and screamed its way to Grady hospital.

At the emergency entrance, A. Anderson, 78, of Indiana, stepped out of the ambulance and walked into the hospital. His wife, 65, was taken inside and physicians found that she was only slightly hurt.

'Waiting' Problem Solved by Imp

This young Atlanta matron has discovered, along with countless others here, that waiting is not nearly so irksome as it once was—at least if an Imp is along to help one while away the time. The young lady in question, Mrs. William Dobbs, who was caught by the camera as she waited in her car to take her husband home from his office, is improving the shining hour by working one of the more than trillion problems which the Imp offers. New followers of the fascinating little game are being added in Atlanta daily by the hundreds.—Staff photo.

Constitution's "Imps"

Today's Problems in the New Game. No. 3. Magic Square—Counting Blank Space 16 It Adds to 34 in All Directions.

One of these problems is possible of solution and the other impossible. Get out your Imp game and find out for yourself which is which. Answer tomorrow.

In case you have not bought one of the manufactured games, rule of 16 blank squares. Cut them out and paste on cardboard. Number the squares from 1 to 15, four lines of four squares each. Discard the sixteenth square and then, without lifting any squares from the table, produce an answer to the problem.

Agnes Scott Student Publication Scores Dr. McCain's Smoking Ban

Belief that a majority of the Agnes Scott students do not consider that smoking would in any way lower the high ideals of the institution was expressed in the current number of the Agnes Scott publication, as the executive committee of the student body issued a questionnaire seeking information on the smoking habits of the students.

The questionnaire follows a recent statement by Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, in which he said that even if several hundred students favored smoking in preference to an Agnes Scott degree, he would allow them to withdraw.

The Agnes Scott feels, the editorial said, "that 90 per cent of the student body are proud of the high ideals of Agnes Scott and strive to live up to them. And yet the majority of this 90 per cent do not consider that smoking would in any way lower these ideals. Why? It is because standards which involve only social customs do not remain fixed. At one time smoking by women seems to have been almost a moral question. What could have possibly made it such we do not know—unless it was the crinine conventions of the Victorian Age. Later it was considered merely as bad taste. Now, in the last 10 years, times have changed again, and women who enjoy smoking smoke and those who do not, don't, at their pleasure. We feel that those opposed to the abolition of the smoking rules have failed to recognize this change and still regard smoking as it was regarded in the latter part of the nineteenth century. It would be foolish to ride behind a horse as our grandfathers did when cars are available."

The questionnaire, signed by Mary McDonald as president of the executive committee, asks if the student smoked before coming to college, or if the habit has been acquired since, whether it is only occasional or regular if a smoker, and whether the rules against smoking are burdensome.

The questionnaire points out that smoking at Agnes Scott is a serious offense, being strictly forbidden on the campus or in any of the college buildings, nor allowed in stores, hotels, tea rooms, while riding, or under any circumstances where the student is representing the college in any way, or when the student is under college supervision or chaperonage.

PARLEY ON MONEY ASKED BY THOMAS

Silver Advocate Calls All Congressmen To Meet April 23 on Problem.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—A call to all members of congress to attend a monetary conference April 23 was issued tonight by one of the leaders of the silver bloc in congress, Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma.

The summons went out a day after President Roosevelt had disclosed he listed the monetary problem as one of those to be taken up before adjournment.

Thomas said the purpose of the new conference was for additional changes in the nation's money was "not to fight the president, but to get something constructive" in the way of legislation.

"We must," he said, "immediately formulate some means whereby the people of this country can become financially solvent."

To Consider Ways.
"That's the purpose of this meeting—to consider all possible ways and means of taking action toward settling the monetary problem of the nation and of the people of the country."

Asked how prominently silver remonetization would figure in the congressional conference, Thomas said it was planned to discuss that first.

In his round-table talk yesterday with chairman of all the senate committees, the president discussed monetary subjects, but the character of the legislation considered at the White House meeting was not disclosed.

A formal White House statement merely listed the monetary question as one of several on which "definite progress was made" in outlining plans.

Morgenstern, President. Significance was given the monetary phase of the conference by the fact that Secretary Morgenthau sat through the entire proceedings.

Morgenstern, with knowledge that pressure for silver remonetization legislation was growing steadily, has urged that action by congress be held off until the administration had opportunity for further analysis of the problem.

Two silver bills now are pending. The Dies measure, which would provide for acceptance of silver from foreign countries which buy farm surplus, has passed the house and gone to the senate. The Fiesinger bill to provide for the purchase of a billion and a half ounces or as much as "necessary to restore the 1926 price level," with currency issued against the silver so acquired, has been reported out of a house committee.

Details of the April 23 meeting are to be made public within a few days. Besides the invitations to all members of congress to attend, farm organizations and "others interested in making a comprehensive survey of our entire monetary problems," Thomas said, have been acquainted with the plan.

Moore's ice cream is more than just "ice cream." Made of the choicest ingredients obtainable, skillfully blended and frozen to perfect smoothness, it is the ideal food for children because of its digestibility.

The many delightful and original week-end special treats furnish the right dessert for every occasion. It gives complete satisfaction whenever and wherever served.

Our neighborhood drugist sells Moore's ice cream exclusively and has for many years. The proof of good ice cream is in eating it. Moore's ice cream sells itself on the first taste.

Georgia Fields And Streams By H. A. Carter.

It is my understanding that a few nights ago some enterprising newspaper reporter in his late news broadcast made the statement that this was a marvelous time of the year to drive out in the country and return to town with the car decorated in dogwood. I did not hear this, but it is entirely possible that he was making the most of a light sarcasm about the matter. I hope that this is the case. If there ever was a shortighted thing in the world, the breaking down of the dogwood by vandals is that thing.

Do all the woods belong to the public? They do not. They are the property of the man who has taken the trouble to make his title solid in the legal records of the country. The fish and game on the lands belong to the state. The plants are his. You have no right to go on anyone's lands and break down their trees without express permission from the owner. And will you get it? You will not.

Quite often I become extremely pessimistic about the future of conservation work in America. Already the tendency to favor conservation work is becoming noticeable, but there is just an occasional indication that there will ever be an actual wave of support for these activities. We are prone to stand in a zoo and exclaim over a vanishing species of wild life, and say "Just think! They say these animals used to be here by the millions. Now there is just one known."

If they would only "just think!" The single fact to which you may call attention can register as a fact only, or it can be the nucleus of a growing conception of the future of the wild life that is still with us in abundance.

We can stare at the pronghorn antelope, but I have my grave doubts of its ever becoming plentiful again. Yet, in spite of the logical conclusion in this case, we stand idly by with poor legislation and see literally everything in the category of wild plants and wild animals destroyed.

There is not yet enough conservation spirit burning in the hearts of American people. Conservationists can rant and rave and tear their hair, but they will not budge the interest of Americans in conservation of one of their greatest of natural resources. We are a wasteful people, be it said to our shame.

In this regard, we are not even good citizens.

Nocturnal "Customer" Is Arrested at Cafe

A "customer" who served himself after the restaurant was closed for the night, according to police, was being held Sunday on a charge of disorderly conduct—burglary, after being found in A. H. Lyon's cafe at 85 Edgewood avenue by Patrolman J. D. Williams.

The eater, who gave the name of J. G. Tillander, of 115 Dalbair street, told police that he was "hungry" and was trying to get something to eat, officers said. Police reported that the lock on the cafe door was broken.

Auto Liability Rating on Owner's Occupation Proper---Atlanta Agency

POLICY AVAILABLE INCLUDES VARIOUS UNIQUE FEATURES

Cole, Sanford & Whitmire Reveal Large Business Increases Recorded During Year of 1933.

The American Automobile Insurance Company, of St. Louis, represented in Atlanta by Cole, Sanford & Whitmire, with offices in the Trust Company of Georgia building, operates in Georgia on the basis of an occupational rating for automobile liability and property damage insurance which recognizes the lesser exposure of automobiles which are used for purely personal, pleasure and family use, including business calls, as against those of the pleasure type being used constantly for business purposes. This difference in hazard is therefore reflected in the premium which they employ.

Further interview with Cole, Sanford & Whitmire discloses a 38 per cent business gain by their agency in 1933 over 1932, and 84 per cent over 1931. A gain of 40 per cent for 1934 over 1933 is predicted, due partially, they admit, to better business conditions, but more because of the modernness of the policies they offer.

In addition to the occupational rating plan, Cole, Sanford & Whitmire point out that the American Auto's new "Pay-Plus" automobile insurance policy includes the following insurance coverage in addition to those commonly provided:

1. A rental reimbursement clause providing reimbursement to the assured for expenses incurred in hiring an automobile for his temporary use while his automobile is in the hands of thieves.

2. Provision for 30-day settlement of total theft losses: Most policies provide for a waiting period of 60 days. This 30-day settlement, combined with the rental reimbursement coverage, enables the assured to continue driving an automobile while de-

G. Leonard Allen Stresses Value of Investment Advice

'Client' Relationship Involves Careful Selection of Securities, Declares Head of Local House.

The only satisfactory basis upon which an investment banking house may transact business is that upon which the investor is a "client" and not a "customer" of the house, according to G. Leonard Allen, of the well-known firm of Allen & Company.

On no other basis, he asserts, can the investor's best interests be served. "No two investors have quite the same problem," says Mr. Allen. "One may wish to conserve a large estate, invested in low-yield tax-free securities. Another may have less capital and require the greatest possible income that can be obtained without risk of principal. Still another may have small capital which he wishes to increase without present regard to income."

"Then there are those who have little, if any, capital accumulated and who wish to provide for the future by a systematic investment of small amounts out of excess income."

"When we consider the investor's varying problems, it is obvious that what he needs above anything else is sound advice, and that any effort in that direction would be futile without a complete understanding of his situation. A confidential 'client' relationship is therefore essential."

"The practice of promiscuous trading in securities," declares Mr. Allen, "cannot be too strongly condemned."

prived of the use of his own by theft with no expense to himself.

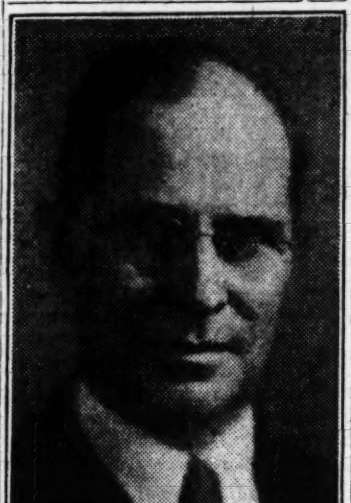

3. Drive-Other Cars Coverage: Under this clause, interest is paid on pending judgments regardless of whether they exceed policy limits. Under the old interest and costs clause, the assured must pay interest on the judgment between the amount of the judgment and the policy limit applicable thereto.

4. Drive-Other Cars Coverage: Under this clause, the policy covers not only the automobile specifically described therein, but also certain other private passenger automobiles borrowed from another, which the assured may be driving.

5. Provision for Payment of Balance of Attachment Bonds: Under this clause, premiums on release of attachment bonds are paid regardless of the penalties, so long as the bonds are required as the result of an accident covered by the policy. Under the old clause, premiums in many cases were not paid if the bonds exceeded the policy limits.

6. Premiums on Appeal Bonds: Under this clause, premiums on appeal bonds are paid in full. Many clauses limit the payment of premiums to that proportion of a judgment not in excess of the policy limits.

7. Instantaneous Coverage Agreement: Under this agreement, the assured has 10 days in which to notify the company of a new automobile purchased either in the place of the automobile originally insured or in addition thereto.

G. LEONARD ALLEN.

It results in losses to the investor not only through the payment of numerous commissions but in gradually lowering the quality of his holdings. "The establishment of a conscientious 'client' relationship places upon the responsibility for a careful selection of securities adapted to the investor's individual needs. Securities so selected should be permanently held. They should be sold only for some fundamental reason, such as a rise in the market price to a point where the increased capital could be reinvested to yield a larger return, to take a profit in case the investor's needs are in excess of his current income."

"Despite the fact conditions are still disturbed by a yet incomplete adjustment to a new order, we are undoubtedly entering a period of prosperity. For those contemplating a planned investment program, we know of no better time to begin than now, as a material increase in capital may be expected if funds are put into carefully selected securities at this time."

"We will be glad to discuss investment matters confidentially with anyone who will call at our offices, suite 901-2 First National Bank building, or will answer carefully and fully any inquiries that come to us by mail."

Northwestern Moves Into Arcade Offices

Removal of the Atlanta agency offices of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company from 220-224 Healey building to new quarters at 200-204 Peachtree Arcade, is announced by Luther E. Allen, general agent.

The new quarters, which Mr. Allen considers one of the best adapted for insurance office purposes in the city, are being taken to provide for the steady expansion of the agency's business, which has registered gains of approximately 100 per cent each month this year over the corresponding months of 1933.

Mr. Allen, who has been affiliated with Northwestern Mutual more than 20 years, extends an invitation to friends and clients of the company to visit the new offices after Monday.

STEEL, AUTO GAINS COUNTERBALANCE DROP IN LOADINGS

Weekly Trade Reviews Reveal New Evidences of Healthy Increases in Many Lines.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP)—Substantial declines in the past week's figures for freight car loadings and electric power production were counterbalanced by further gains in steel and automobile production, and continued high levels of retail distribution.

The sharp drops in the movement of freight was accounted for by special factors in the coal industry, and the recession in electric power output was evidently due in part at least to much warmer weather over most of the country during the period covered by the weekly statistics. In railway freight, there was actually a slight increase in the movement of merchandise.

The more glowing accounts of business recovery still appear in the weekly trade surveys of Dun & Bradstreet. This week the agency said, "many spring needs still are to be covered that the majority of merchants see no indication of the peak level for the season being reached until well into May." The tapering off retail sales volume expected after Easter has not occurred, and reports to Dun & Bradstreet said Saturday, April 14, that it was the best shopping day in some centers in three years. The increase in dollar volume is, of course, to a considerable extent a reflection of higher prices. But nevertheless, dealers are stirring for items almost completely neglected for a long time. For instance, sales of pianos were placed at 120 to 200 per cent over a year ago.

Government spending is still being watched closely for indications as to the extent business is being sustained by emergency expenditures. Daily average expenditures were curtailed in March, but were expanded in the early part of April, mainly in CWA direct relief and in emergency relief administration disbursements. Furthermore, the Public Works Administration is now expected to play a large part in business recovery, for with spring weather, the dirt is beginning to fly in many projects for which funds were allotted some time ago.

With President Roosevelt's return from his fishing trip, early developments are anticipated as result of the national emergency council's study of means to stimulate home building and emergency construction contracts. Daily average expenditures were curtailed in March, but were expanded in the early part of April, mainly in CWA direct relief and in emergency relief administration disbursements.

Labor clouds still hover about the motor industry, but an impasse which brought a tie-up in the Hudson plant was quickly broken. "Cram" estimated that past week's production at 91,224 units, up 1,502 from the previous week.

Movement for State Highway Patrol Corps Lauded by Cunningham Motorcycle Co. Head

The Atlanta traffic squad, 20 strong, is shown here in review formation in front of the Cunningham Motorcycle Company's plant at 17 Hunnicutt street, N. W. The squad, under Lieutenant Reggie McLean, is completely equipped with Harley-Davidson motorcycles, for which the Cunningham Motor Company is the dealer here.

When the motor vehicle commissioners of the southeastern states met in Atlanta on April 6 it was recommended that a highway patrol be established to enforce traffic regulations on the rural highways of Georgia. According to Walter T. Cunningham, head of the Cunningham Motorcycle Company, local dealers for the Harley-Davidson Motor Company, this was the most significant development of the entire meeting.

Mr. Cunningham pointed out that while several hundred persons were killed in automobile accidents on the rural highways of Georgia last year, Louisiana had only 40 fatal motor casualties during the same length of time, and in Tennessee the number of killed and injured also was materially reduced during 1933. This improvement in conditions was subsequent to the establishment of highway patrols by these states.

"From a recent survey made by the National Safety Council," said Mr. Cunningham, "it is apparent that those states maintaining uniformed highway patrols have a remarkably low accident record, as compared to those states whose highways are not patrolled."

"Traffic accidents are fewer when a highway patrol is on the job, because by his very presence on the highways, a uniformed motorcycle officer exerts a psychological effect on the motorist which cannot be simulated by any other method of law enforcement."

"Several months ago," Mr. Cunningham said, "tests were conducted by the police traffic department of Los Angeles, Cal., which prove conclusively that the mere presence of a motorcycle officer on the highways will slow traffic from 10 to 20 miles an hour. At a street intersection where numerous accidents had occurred, it was ascertained, by the use of a stop-watch, that when no officer was in sight, traffic moved at an average rate of 40 miles an hour. The officers then parked their motorcycles at the intersection where they could be seen plainly from all directions. The effect was startling. The average speed of cars dropped immediately to 28 miles an hour."

Mutual Benefit Life Registers Sharp Business Gains Over '33

First quarter results of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark show a new business increase of 42 per cent over last year's figures. The improved business conditions and better feeling throughout Georgia is shown by a jump of 74 per cent in the business of the company's Georgia agency for the first three months of 1934 over a similar period of last year.

R. L. Foreman, general agent for the Mutual Benefit in Georgia, reports the members of his agency are finding an increased demand for monthly installment payments provided for beneficiaries—a service which is offered to all policyholders, old and new.

Just at this time, when a number of people have been forced to give up or substantially reduce their insurance on account of the depression, says Mr. Foreman, there is considerable interest shown in the "salary extension" plan, by means of which a policyholder, week and about double the total for the same week of last year. "Recent price increases," said "Cram," "have had some effect in retarding the advance of retail sales of new passenger cars, although the general trade opinion was that no noticeable slowing up would result from the action."

Steel ingot production, according to the weekly tabulation of the American Iron & Steel Institute, came back strongly, rising 4.1 per cent to 47.4 per cent of capacity, the best for any week but one since last September.

er provides an income for his family during the trying readjustment period following the death of the breadwinner. This "salary extension" is flexible as to amount and length of time payable, and provides for the continuation of income for the dependent family during the emergency period.

"WAREHOUSING SERVICE THAT SATISFIES"

COTTON TRADERS AWAITING PASSAGE OF BANKHEAD BILL

Rally in Prices Expected With Final Approval of Production Control Legislation.

NEW ORLEANS, April 15.—(AP)—The cotton market was decidedly quiet during the past week, as traders continued to hold off owing to the delay in the final enactment of the Bankhead bill.

There was also disappointment at some of the changes made in the measure by the conference committee. Traders appear to be committed mainly to the long side of the market, expecting a rally in prices when the cotton control bill is finally disposed of.

There was little disposition shown to sell except by ring scalpers for quick turns.

As a result of the slack trading price fluctuations were narrow, but the general trend was slowly downward. The extreme spread of fluctuations did not greatly exceed 20 points. Irregularity and easiness in stocks and wheat added to the easier tone and the market was also influenced by the more favorable weather in the belt which is facilitating rapid planting. The market was somewhat supported at the close of the week by the rather large domestic mill consumption during March which considerably exceeded February as well as March of last year. The close showed a net decline of 14 to 16 points.

The following shows the high, low and closing sales in the New Orleans future market during the past week compared with a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Fete Bridal Couple

Miss Kate Jenkins and her fiancé, Collet Munger, of Dallas, Texas, whose wedding will be an interesting social event of Tuesday evening, were honor guests at a breakfast given on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas at their home on Peachtree road.

Quantities of spring flowers were effectively arranged on the table in the dining room, while similar blossoms adorned the reception rooms. The guests included the members of the wedding party and a group of close friends of the attractive bride.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robert Jr. entertain at a buffet supper at their home on Fifteenth street, complimenting Miss Jenkins and Mr. Munger and the members of their wedding party, following the wedding rehearsal. The affair is one of a series of parties to be given for Miss Jenkins and Mr. Munger.

Virginia Avenue Garden Club.

Virginia Avenue Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. R. W. Johnson recently. After opening the meeting with reading of several appropriate poems, the president, Mrs. R. N. Walker, had a number of interesting comments read, among them being the following: (1) From the Woman's Auxiliary of the Egleston Memorial Hospital for Children, announcing the fourth annual series of visits to the Atlanta gardens on April 21, 28 and May 5. (2) From Miss Rhoda Kaufman, of the Family Welfare Society, expressing thanks for the contribution of $250 sent by the club to furnish seeds for five needy families. (3) From Mrs. Arkwright, inviting the club members to Pinchot gardens on April 19-20, for the benefit of the Cornelia Moore Day Nursery. (4) From the children of S. M. Inman school (High 2 and High 21), offering their co-operation in aiding the Virginia Avenue Garden Club to make its thoroughfare clean and beautiful.

It was suggested that the children of the school be requested to make a scrapbook for the club and in return for their co-operation the club would donate plants for the school garden. The resignation of the recording secretary, Mrs. Moore, was accepted with regret and Mrs. Byron Malt was unanimously elected to fill the unexpired term.

A committee, composed of Mesdames Slappey, Craig and Starr, was appointed to arrange plans for a flower show in the near future.

The club was informed that the president, Mrs. Walker, had successfully passed the examination given by the recent school of judging and had been placed on the honor roll.

The president introduced Mrs. A. E. McCann, who read a paper on "Japanese Flower Arrangement." She displayed a beautiful arrangement of iris concretely demonstrating the Japanese idea of the heaven, earth, man significance in flower arrangement. She emphasized the thought that the Japanese have made a religion of nature and that they teach the love of flowers to little children so they may develop the artistic taste. The speaker was given a vote of thanks and appreciation for her excellent message. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. L. F. Moore as hostess.

Lillian Mae Patterns

1625 COLOR IS THE GAY NOTE ON PATTERN 1625.

This spring is the season of color! Accordingly fashion has launched her new collections in a rainbow of color and striking color effects. Here's one of our favorite models—and a stunning example of this trend. It was fashioned of skipper blue silk splashed with white flowers of conventional motif, and white was used for the smart yoke. Simplicity of line prevails—most essential when relying on color for effect. When making your frock, choose your most becoming tones, and you'll be delighted with the picture you'll make. Cottons, of course, would be equally delightful.

Pattern 1625 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 38-inch fabric and 7-8 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Miss Fancher Speaks To Business Women At Dinner-Meeting

"What the Well-Read Business and Professional Women Ought to Know" was the subject of Miss Lauretta Jean Fancher's address made recently to business and professional women at dinner-meeting held at the Frances Virginia tea room, and presided over by Miss Maude H. Sewell, the president.

The program was in charge of the magazine committee, and Miss Fancher's address brought out the value of books and magazines in assisting women to keep up with the times. The business woman must lead a well-rounded life; she must really live. Reading helps definitely to influence our personalities, to direct our thought. We need to read biography because it gives us something real to remember; poetry for its rhythm and innate satisfaction. Laughter and friendship are very vital and we get these, too, from books and magazines, for we choose our friends among writers just as we choose our friends in life," said Miss Fancher.

A round-table discussion on magazine content, relating particularly to Independent Woman, the official organ of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was conducted by Mrs. Flora S. Osburn, and those taking part in the discussion were Mesdames Cora Alexander, Cecil Fuller, Misses Leita Thompson, Louise Vaughn, Blanche Wood, Rebecca Shuman, Ellen Douglas and Margaret White.

Miss Ethel Holbrook, chairman of the magazine committee, read a paper contributed by Miss Louise Dooly on the beginnings of the present department of the West End Woman's Club, which was installed Saturday at the West End Woman's clubhouse on Cascade avenue. Photograph by The Little Studio.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

By MIGNON.

One of the finest ideas I've discovered is using a fine powdered body sachet instead of perfume. If you are out at business during the day, and can find a good delicately scented powder, the heat of the body will release the perfume in the powder and you will radiate this delicate fragrance. I once had one that was so good that I clung to it for years. Then suddenly it seemed to lose its efficiency. Whether there was less of the perfume put into the powder or whether the general quality was becoming inferior I was not able to find out, but I stopped using it. There is one I know of that is excellent and others want something that is more mystifying. It all depends upon the impression you are trying to create. I am on a still hunt for some new ones and will tell about them when I get just the right ones.

Don't ask me about hair dyes because I don't believe in them. Somehow I think the good Lord knew what He was doing when He colored your hair, and He made it match your complexion. If you don't think so, take a long look at some woman with a brunette's complexion and light blond hair. Ugh! So few women ever dye their hair any color but blond, except the gray-haired women and they usually have enough judgment to try the dark shades. They couldn't dye their hair blond and look human. Hair dyes are like permanent lipstick—permanent for a little while. Nothing in the world is as much trouble or as dangerous to beauty as dyeing your hair. So if you are looking for trouble—there it is.

A nice perfume for young women who are still in school should be a light fragrance that won't be noticed at first, but will subtly work its way into the consciousness of those about them.

A good cream for cleaning a dry skin, one that will come off easily and not force you to shove your face this way and that in order to remove it, is what you want in these times. The women with dry skins should buy an oilier cream than that used by the skins that have enough oil of their own. There are plenty of them of both kinds and you can take your choice.

I won't discuss depilatories, though I am sorry not to answer so many questions regarding them. Here are so many people who are careless in the use of them, and get burned, or who have such sensitive skin that serious things happen to them. I prefer to let readers make up their own minds about such things. If they want to take chances I can't prevent that, but I will not recommend things that require extreme care in using in order to prevent injury.

And don't ask me about powdered food that makes you get thin. I am just old-fashioned enough to believe that people should eat food, and not powder. I am not going to tell you to eat something that I wouldn't eat. I think many food aids are silly and that women can be healthy and beautiful if they are fed with a medicine dropper.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column please Mignon at the Constitution office. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In Nancy's bedroom was a large clothes closet. This is it, it was large in so far as length was concerned, but shallow as to width. To obviate the difficulties of getting into the farthest corners of this closet Nancy and Peter had had the builders put on two doors. By opening these it was possible to get into the recesses easily.

These doors had proven satisfactory from another viewpoint—in that a mirror had been fastened to the inside of one of the doors. This gave a full-length view and was used a great deal.

If you are interested in adequate lighting for your home send for Nancy's bulletin on "modern lighting." She sends it on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution.)

700 STUNNING DRESS FOR MATRONS AND YOUNGER WOMEN.

Today's model lends itself most admirably to the spring crepe silk prints in navy and white, brown and white and in green tones.

The yoke at the front of the bodice is slimming the way it ends in a tied scarf. The slim skirt cut with a length-giving panel at the front, flutters gracefully in its softly slightly flared fullness.

Another interesting scheme is navy blue crepe silk with deep back pointed yoke of the bodice and the front yoke of crisp white embroidered organdie.

Style No. 700 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3-5 yards of 39-inch material.

Moose' Clabaugh Joins Crackers; Says He's 'Ready to Go'

JAYCEES STAGE JUBILEE CARD AT AUDITORIUM

Ceremonies Tonight Free to Public; Crackers To Be Introduced.

Atlanta baseball fans will be given an opportunity to meet the Cracker ball players and Manager Abbott in person tonight, as well as to enjoy a big jubilee program of dancing, music, wrestling and boxing at the city auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the opening Southern league game here tomorrow between Atlanta and Nashville, has arranged the jubilee party and the public is cordially invited to attend free of charge.

FANS EXPECTED.

The jubilee, or get-together, is expected to bring all the baseball fans out. Manager Abbott will introduce the Cracker players, including President Wilbert Robinson and other Cracker officials will attend. The purpose of the program is to get Atlantans awakened to the importance of again capturing the Southern league opening day trophy, which Atlanta has won a great many times in the past and attained the honor of being the best baseball city in the league.

The program will include music by the 1224 Infantry band and a wrestling match sponsored by Henry Weber will open the show.

Snooky Woods and Hap Farnell (famed through their appearances at the Atlanta theater) will render the theatrical attraction of the night.

After the main event, a dance will be staged from 9:30 until midnight, with Graham Jackson and his orchestra furnishing the music.

The entertainment program will stage a parade Tuesday, which begins at 12:30 o'clock and will be formed at Trinity and Whitehall. The route of the parade will be through the city streets, ending at the stadium.

Whitehall-Peachtree-Ponce de Leon to the ball park, where the Jaycees have completed the program to furnish Cracker fans with other lively entertainment.

The parade, which will precede the opening game Tuesday, will be composed entirely of new cars. Atlanta auto dealers will enter exhibits which will include a member of the Crackers and a beautiful girl.

The official cars of the parade Tuesday will include Atlanta's own Wilbert Robinson, John D. Martin, president of the Southern league, and Spencer Abbott, who has the responsibility of leading the Crackers out of the second division wilderness this season.

Other cars will contain Jaycee and city notables.

The program at the ball park following the parade will include a formation of the two band and drum corps, a battalion of soldiers from Fort McPherson and to the sound of music will march to the field where the flag-raising ceremonies will be staged within a time limit to allow the game to begin as per scheduled.

The honorary battery formation will be led by Captain George Sargent, president of the Atlanta Debutante Club; catcher, Allen I. Barr, chairman Jaycees baseball committee; batter, Governor Eugene Talmadge, and umpire, Clifford Hendrix, president of the Jaycees. A new ball will be thrown to Miss Crumley by Hon. James L. Key, mayor of Atlanta, after which the Crackers will usher in the official 1934 baseball season.

Rain failed to halt East Lake golfers Sunday afternoon and 10 four-somes participated in the regular weekly golf tournament in the No. 2 course. Travis Johnson, W. H. Vaughan, Charles Berlin and M. R. Campbell Sr. won first honors with 141, one under par.

Second place went to Harold Sargent, C. L. Crawford, J. S. Bick and L. E. Mock, at 142, with Charles Yates, Angus Peterson, Woodrow McMillan and Dr. J. R. Mitchell and P. Lombard, Dr. R. B. Gray, G. B. Sisson and Robert Ingram only a few strokes back.

Individual scoring honors went to Charles Yates and George Sargent, with par 71s. It was unusually good scoring for a rainy afternoon and slow greens.

Kilpatrick leads at Ansley Park.

J. T. Kilpatrick, with a 72, took the lead during the week-end in the qualifying round for play in the annual Ansley Park spring handicap tournament.

The qualifying was scheduled to end Sunday afternoon but due to unfavorable weather it was extended through next Sunday, giving every member ample opportunity to participate.

A match will be played each week and handicaps will apply in each match.

Dallas Favored in Texas League

DALLAS, Texas, April 15.—(AP)—San Antonio's Missions are ready to launch their campaign to retain the Texas baseball league pennant, but they're getting little encouragement from the experts.

Consensus of sports writers today pointed to Dallas as likely to finish on top this season, with Houston a close second.

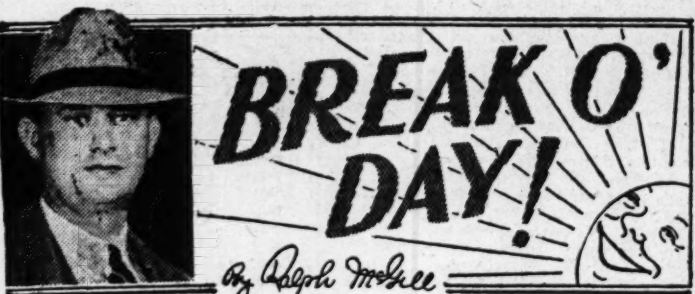

The Missions' victory in the play-offs last year was something of an upset. They defeated Houston in consecutive games and then walloped Galveston to carry off the bunting.

Houston finished first on a straight-through campaign but was no match for San Antonio in the showdown.

Tuesday's opening games match Dallas at Tulsa, Fort Worth at Oklahoma City, Galveston at San Antonio and Houston at Beaumont.

Maranville Moves to Hotel 'Home'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 15.—(AP)—Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, Boston Brave shortstop whose leg was broken in an exhibition game here three weeks ago, was at a hotel today, having been discharged from a hospital yesterday.

BREAK O' DAY!

Southern Clubs Renew Battling In 34th Round Tomorrow

Eight Southern association baseball clubs get going tomorrow afternoon in the old, old whirl which has been going on without ceasing since 1901. And that, I think, makes 33 years of baseball.

Doping their probabilities is a task which is quite impossible although you will find the boys doing it with gusto and insouciant confidence. One or two of them will guess right and fancy themselves baseball experts for a year or so.

But doping the probabilities is pure guess work. Very, very pure. The essence, in fact, of guessing.

The minors cannot be doped as the majors may, and they are uncertain enough. Because the major leagues are more stable as to players.

The minor leagues, and particularly the Southern, are very unstable as to personnel. The players are sold, drafted, traded and released. Each year finds all clubs rebuilding.

This makes for uncertainty. The second, and perhaps the most important factor of uncertainty, is the rookie rule which requires each club to have five recruits on the squad.

The recruits are just hit-or-miss. A manager who gets two good ones out of five considers that Dame Fortune has fallen in love with him.

There is just one stable factor in some major league clubs—the management. A few clubs in the Southern association have managers and owners and an office organization which works well. They know ball players. And what is more important they know how and where to get them when needed. These clubs have had uniform success.

Memphis, with Tom Watkins as owner, Doc Prothro as manager and Frank Longinotti as secretary, plus one good scout, has always been strong. New Orleans, with Larry Gilbert as owner and manager and Macon Jones as secretary, has a good organization. Birmingham has one with Clyde Milam and Billy West, who are a great team at Birmingham.

Atlanta has its finest set-up since the days of Charley Frank in Wilbert Robinson as president, Spencer Abbott as manager and Earle Mann as secretary.

They know how and where to get players. And they have a good club assembled. No matter what its start may be I am sure a wager that the Cracker team will finish in the first division is a safe one.

THE BRUNSWICK SPECIAL.

The Brunswick Special will chuff out of the Brunswick station tonight.

On it will be Colonel Tillinghast L'Honniedue Huston, the man who wrote the check that brought Babe Ruth to the Yankees and who now serves the Crackers as chief adviser to Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson.

The Brunswick Special is coming to the opening game here Tuesday. It is coming with the mayor, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker up to see Wilbert Robinson's Crackers in action.

The Colonel is bringing his iron hat. He used to wear that iron hat as long as the Yankees were winning. And the Yankees were winning plenty of games in those days.

And "Cap" Huston used to wear it plumb up into August when an iron hat is heavy and hot and uncomfortable. The taxi drivers and the newspaper urchins used to jibe at his hat. But he wore it proudly. It was the symbol of the iron in the Yankee attack.

The Brunswick special will arrive early Tuesday morning. I recall last year that I entered the hotel elevator and cocked one ear attentively. When the elevator reached one floor where the noise was tremendous I asked the girl to halt the car. "Let me off here," I said. "I can hear the Brunswick Special."

The next best thing to riding the Brunswick Special is to meet the occupants. I intend to be with them early in the morning and join right in on the chorus:

"Oh, Orioles, Oh, Orioles, Orioles, Doggone their souls."

It is a song calculated to stir Wilbert Robinson into action, he being one of the last of the old Orioles.

WHO'S AFRAID OF THE VOLS?

Our Crackers, the brutes, intend to go right out and slap over the Nashville Vols on opening day, which is next Tuesday.

I have learned this important bit of information just by bending in an ear here and there. The fearful Vols, known as Moody William Terry's Colts, or second team, have been attempting to frighten people because of their association with the Giants.

But the Giants have been taking pasting after pasting from the Indians. Indeed the Giants have been scalped so often they are no longer interesting.

And so the Crackers intend to take up the good work at the expense of the team which Moody William Terry sent down to win the pennant for Nashville.

Captain Buster Chatham was discovered in a very calm condition. He was neither quaking in his boots nor trembling like Miss Snooky Woods at the finish of her dance.

It seems that it will be all right after all to let the little ones come out of the house and play around as usual on Tuesday. The Vols are not as ferocious as their press agents would have us believe.

The Crackers are not viewing the Volunteers with alarm. In fact, they believe they will pin back their ears, so to speak. And it would not be at all surprising were they to do just that.

THE JAMBOREE TONIGHT.

Those pleasure bent would do well to drop in at the free show tonight at the auditorium where the Junior Chamber of Commerce is entertaining in honor of the baseball opening.

The players are to be introduced. Miss Snooky Woods, the burlesque queen, is to dance. There is to be a wrestling match and other entertainment. And a dance follows, lasting until midnight.

All this is free, gratis, for nothing.

On Tuesday there is to be a parade and a short but interesting program at the park.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has done a great job. The result should be the retention of the attendance cup for Atlanta.

KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK.

Here it is "Kind to Animals Week" and a half dozen baseball leagues getting ready to punish the horsehide.

DICK SHIKAT MEETS SARPOLIS ON WEDNESDAY

Former Champion Will Meet Strong Foe Here After Long Absence.

Dick Shikat, who wrestles Dr. Karl Sarpolis here Wednesday night at the auditorium, is given a ranking along with the great figures of the match game from Frank Gotch, Farmer Burns on down through Joe Stecher, Ed Lewis and Jim London.

Shikat's flawless form is probably the finest in the game today, being even more effortless than that of Jim London.

Wrestlers, the good ones, have two important assets. They are the ability to use their weight and a fine sense of balance.

Use of weight isn't apparent. Boxers use it as do wrestlers. The idea is to make the opponent carry the weight. That is why many star performers are seen to remain on the defensive for a great part of their matches with strong opponents. They are waiting the opponent carry the burden until the time comes to open up on the offense.

A sense of balance in wrestling is necessary for the topnotch performer. Shikat has this sense developed to a high degree. It is next to impossible to get him off his feet.

He works with a catlike ease which makes his work appear ridiculously easy.

Sarpolis said, in a letter yesterday, "I am glad to meet Dick Shikat. I beat Darv Roche but I much prefer to wrestle rather than fight as I did to do to beat Roche."

"I think I can give Shikat all he is looking for. At any rate, I'll be in there trying. I may surprise him at that."

In the semi-windup the big Russian, Darna Ostapovich, will meet Jim Barker, the 220-pounder from St. Louis.

This appearance of Shikat, from whom London took the title, will be the last indoor show. The others will be held at the baseball park.

Godwin Fights In California Friday

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP)—California rains a virtual monopoly on the cauliflower industry this week.

Three major shows featuring Kid Chocolate, King Lewinsky and Bob Godwin will be held on the west coast this week while boxing arenas in other sections either are idle or offer less important leather-pulling.

Chocolate, Cuba's great featherweight of a few years back, begins what he hopes will be a successful comeback campaign at San Francisco tomorrow night. Knockout by Frankie Klink in his last start, stripped of his claim to the featherweight crown by the New York state athletic commission, Chocolate will start on the road back to fame in a ten-round match with Frankie Wallace, Cleveland lightweight.

Meanwhile, Maxey Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, continues his tour at Oklahoma City tomorrow night, meeting Clyde Chastain, of Dallas, in a 10-round non-title bout.

Red Sox Hammer Braves in Final

BOSTON, April 15.—(AP)—The Red Sox hammered their way to a 10-3 victory over the Braves in the fifth and last game of Boston's spring series before a 12,000 crowd at Braves field today.

The Braves won the first three games of the series, two of them played at the south end, but the Red Sox captured the last two here. John Welch pitched the distance for the Red Sox and held the Braves to seven hits, all singles.

Dixie Teams Add Power As Race Draws Near

By Dillon Graham, Associated Press Sports Writer

Hopeful that changes all down the line will produce a spirited race and attract customers through the turnstiles, the Southern Association opens its thirty-fourth annual baseball season Tuesday.

The usual attendance day ballyhoo and some last-minute shifts have contributed their part toward existing enthusiasm for the new campaign.

New Orleans, last year's winner, leads the six-team league during the favorite of the sports writers to capture the pennant, with Memphis as a close second and Nashville and Atlanta as possible contenders.

BIGGEST SURPRISE.

Knoxville offered the biggest surprise of the late change by releasing its manager, Paul Wanning, and employing Lee Head, a catcher, as the leader of the Smokies.

Atlanta put over a deal that brought Moose Clabaugh, former league home-run leader, to Ponce de Leon park and strengthened the Crackers' attack.

There was optimism in every camp. Virtually every team has strengthened its roster and four new managers are at the helm. These include Head,

Harry Taylor Does a 'Stretch' for One

Harry Taylor, Atlanta's new first baseman, is a nifty fielder. Here, Harry is shown stretching out for a low one. He is considered one of the finest defensive first basemen in the minor leagues and three years ago the Chicago Cubs paid the Seattle club of the Coast league $22,000 for him. He has batted .298 and .309 in the last two seasons in the International league with Albany and led the league in fielding. Spencer Abbott thinks Atlanta fans will like Harry's ball playing.—Staff photo.

YANKEES WIN BEFORE 25,000

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP)—A crowd of 25,000 saw the New York Yankees hammer Phil Page for three runs in the sixth inning and win an exhibition game from the Brooklyn Dodgers in the Yankee stadium, 4-2.

The Dodgers had gained a 2-1 lead in the first half of the sixth but the Yankees' counter-rally swept the victory out of Brooklyn's grasp. Russ Van Atta, who had relieved Danny MacFadden after the fifth, began it with a triple. A walk to Earle Combs, a single by Red Rolfe and Babe Ruth's double accounted for three runs and the ball game. An error by Ruth and a passed ball by Bill Dickey led to both Dodger runs.

Owen Carroll pitched the first four innings for the Dodgers and allowed only two hits. He was wild, however, and walked six men to keep himself in a jam most of the time.

The victory completed the Yankees' exhibition schedule and gave the American leaguers 18 triumphs against seven defeats in a tie.

The contest marked the Indians' return to League park out on Lexington avenue after a sojourn at the stadium downtown. Johnson will see what his team can do against American league competition for the first time this season when the Indians open against St. Louis here Tuesday.

EX-VOL SLUGGER SLATED TO PLAY IN OPENER HERE

Outfielder Signs Contract; Atlanta-Buffalo Game Rained Out.

By Jimmy Jones.

John (Moose) Clabaugh, tickled to death to play ball for Atlanta and glad of escaping what he called an impossible situation with the Galveston club, arrived in the city yesterday, ready to play leftfield for the Crackers on opening day against his old club, the Nashville Vols.

But for the arrival of the Moose, who batted a robust .336 for the Baltimore Orioles last season and who can't be blamed for not wanting to play for Galveston, it would have been a very dull day out at the ball park.

The Crackers' final exhibition game of the spring, the third of the series with Ray Schalk's Buffalo Bisons, was prevented by the rain and chill. That is all very well, also, for the Crackers have played enough exhibition games to satiate until next year, at least, the desire of all concerned.

MOOSE IS FIT.

As for Mr. Clabaugh, in whom everyone is quite interested since he is expected to be a dynamo for generating quite a few Cracker runs, he looks fairly fit to play right now.

"I haven't had much hitting practice, but I believe I can get in there right now and get my eye on the ball," the Moose informed Manager Abbott. He has been working out with the high school team in his home town of Albany, Mo.

Abbott signed his contract on arrival yesterday—he had already agreed to terms—and participated in a "pepper game" with the Crackers before the rain fell.

Abbott will put him through the rest of the Crackers to see how the Moose gets on.

TO START HIM.

"Chances are I will start him out there in leftfield Tuesday, anyway, but I just want to see how his batting eye is," Abbott stated. Clabaugh said that he felt good enough to get in the game right away.

to get to the game right away. "I'll be glad to get in the game right away," Clabaugh stated.

Manager Abbott has called the Crackers out to practice at 10 o'clock today. It will be the last one and signals will be gone over and new uniforms broken in.

The squad cut down to starting quota Saturday when Rufus Meadows, Class A pitcher, was sent to Oklahoma City, of the Texas league.

MISSISSIPPI NINE STICKS TO LEAD

Mississippi State College today leads the Southern conference in baseball race with three victories and no defeats.

The Mississippians humbled Louisiana State University, 2 to 0, and won a pair of contests from the University of Kentucky, 9 to 7 and 11 to 4.

Alabama, which set the early pace with three victories, ran into a defeat at the hands of Georgia Tech Friday, but trounced the Engineers in the second game of the season. It was the Crimson's season score of five wins and one setback.

Alabama has two victories over Louisiana State and as many over the University of Mississippi. Tech won its game from Texas, 9 to 5, but lost yesterday's encounter, 11 to 2.

The standings:

Hornsby Will Play in Opening Game

ST. LOUIS, April 15.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, who has been grooming young Harland Clift as third base ever since he was a kid, will play the position in the opening game of the American league season at Cleveland Tuesday.

The veteran slugger, whose only appearance in the pre-season exhibition games was at first base and as a pinch hitter, did not elaborate upon his statement that he was taking over the third base job.

Clift, making his first trip to the majors, has done well in exhibition games. Hornsby's decision to participate actively in the baseball wars was believed prompted by the weak hitting of the Browns.

Senators Open With Red Sox

EARL WHITEHILL TO START GAME FOR CHAMPIONS

President Roosevelt To Aid in American Loop Opening.

By John F. Chester.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(AP)—The stand-pat Washington Senators and the renovated Red Sox, of Boston—with possibly a bit of help from President Roosevelt and the grace of the weatherman—are poised to lift the cover off the 1934 baseball pennant scramble.

Joe Cronin, Washington's young manager, tonight pointed to Earl Whitehill, first-hander, to start tomorrow's first game in either league. Whitehill is famous among other things for winning the Senators' lone victory against the Giants in last October's World Series.

Bucky Harris, manager of the question-mark team from Boston, and himself once a pennant-winning "boy manager" for Washington, has an eye on Bob Feller, another left-hander, as his starting choice.

Strangely enough, the star war-horse pitchers of both teams are due for choice seats on the bench at the opening.

GROVE RECOVERING.

Grove Moses ("Lefty") Grove, minus a few molars, is recovering from his first loss. Alvin ("General") Crowder, who apparently overworked himself last season, has been unable to round into the fine early-spring pitcher he usually is.

Cronin has decided to make Crowder a relief hurler for a while, and brings Jack Russell, the starting star of last year, into the starting rotation. Crowder or Russell may see service before tomorrow night, however, as no Washington pitcher has yet gone the nine-inning route in the mediocre series of training games.

The same may hold true in the case of Grove.

"The minute he says he's ready, I'm going to let him pitch," Harris told a friend here the other day.

Clark Griffith, the Washington owner, has a date at the White House tomorrow morning to ask Mr. Roosevelt to toss out the first ball with the arm he limbered up in learning "tricks" from sharks and barracuda in the Caribbean. Mr. Roosevelt very likely will say "Yes."

In any event, senators-legislators, not baseball players—are sure to be present in goodly numbers, for the senate has decided to hold a holiday for tomorrow. More than a few members probably will play hockey, as will cabinet members and other officials of the government.

Both the Red Sox and the Senators have come through the training season in reasonably good shape. Luke Sewell, regular right-hander for the Sox, suffering from a foot-pitching finger, will be replaced by Moe Berg, himself only partially recovered from the same ailment.

The game possibly will see the entry of Elmer Klump, third-string catcher, late of Chattanooga. Klump has been hitting beautifully, but has failed to win any prizes for catching foul pops. Rick Ferrell may give the Sox a shade of advantage in the catching department.

Ossie Bluege, veteran Senator third baseman, will be back on his old stand wearing spectacles as batting aid. John Stone, the only new face in the Washington lineup, is in right field. Joe Judge, for many years a Senator, will be at first base for Boston. Bill Werber, a Washington high school product, will be holding down short for the Sox. Generally, the same lineups as appeared during the training season will be used.

The Senators go to Boston for a game Tuesday, taking part in the first of what will then become general in both leagues.

Martin said today he will see Nashville play in Atlanta Tuesday; Knoxville at Chattanooga Wednesday; and New Orleans at Birmingham Friday. He will return to Memphis in time to see Little Rock play the Chicago Saturday.

Martin announced the following opening day assignments of umpires: Atlanta, Rick Campbell and John Quinn. Knoxville, Harry Johnson and Eddie Ainsmith. Memphis, Buck Campbell and C. R. Grigg. New Orleans, Hadley Williams and H. (Polly) McLarry.

Rabbit Maranville On Recovery Road

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 15.—(UP)—Rabbit Maranville, colorful veteran of baseball, convalescing from a broken leg, was released from Mound Park hospital today.

He was removed to his hotel, where physicians say he will be confined for two weeks.

Maranville's leg was broken in a collision at home plate during an exhibition game several days ago. It was an incident of pathos, stirring to tears many of the hard-core fans of baseball, including Babe Ruth.

Local Stars Feature Georgia State Shoot

Cusaden Sees First Event With More Doubles Than Handicap Shooters; Earle Consistent.

By Jack Troy.

Senor (pronounced s-nore) Arthur Cusaden, who watched over the on-day in the Georgia state trapshoot at Radium Springs even more zealously than a mother hen guards her biddies, turned his broad back to the wind and on his abridged underpinning ran violently for the clubhouse—well, as violently, anyway, as a man with the breadth of a Hercules from the rear and the arc of the hyperbola from the front can shoot a day's firing had ended in the Georgia state trap-shooting championship.

"The wind is playing tricks with my eyes or else I have made a dreadful mistake. It cannot be possible there are more doubles than handicap shooters. I must have made an error."

And so he checked and he checked as he huffed and he puffed and then assured himself that for the first time in his long experience in trap-shooting he had at last attended a shoot where there were actually more shooters in doubles than in handicap. The count was 19 for the doubles and 17 for the handicap.

There is one thing you can always count on in any registered shoot, Paul Earle, the shooting star from Starr, S. C., will always be high overall, and the Georgia state shoot was no exception. The gaunt South Carolinian, who reminds you of a mountaineer, was one of the most consistent shots in the land.

ALL-AROUND:

J. D. Pullin, who is really from McDonough, but is considered an Atlanta shooter, won the high all-around and double trap championships. Jack Tway, secretary of the Capital Gun Club, won the singles championship.

Another thing 8-nore Arthur Cusaden saw for the first time in his many years of professional experience was a handicap with as many entries and with a variance of only 12 targets from the top to lowest place. It went 93 and 81.

The Georgia state shoot of 1934 will go down in the records as the shoot of the big wind. When the beautiful Radium Springs Club was opened Cusaden shot right behind Paul Earle, Cusaden's best friend, but he was missed and Earle ran his straight firing to 301.

In the shoot just ended Captain M. E. Hicks, of Atlanta, broke something like 40 straight for the longest run of the three-day event.

Among the standout achievements despite the blustery elements were Earle's 93x100 on the opening day, followed closely by Homer D. Freeman's 95; Buddy Jones' final salvo at skeet, 100 straight; Benson Freeman's great work in winning the doubles; and the amazing number of trophies carried away by the Atlanta shooters.

They went something like this: Pullin, 6; Tway, 3; Mrs. Donald McClain, 2; Benson Freeman, 2; Troy, 2; Donald McClain, 1; Jack Gray, 1; Al Freese, 1; Larry Grant, 1; H. N. Alford, 1; Buddy Jones, 1; Captain M. E. Hicks, 1.

ATLANTA GETS 22

There were 22 beautiful trophies. And Atlanta got with 22 of them. C. L. Davis, secretary of the West End Gun Club, deserves a medal for endurance. Without sleep, he drove the car for the first five days and finished third in the high handicap skeet championship. L. E. Draper drove down with him and came second. Draper finished with 103 and Davis with 101.

Among the charming Atlanta visitors to drive down for the closing day were Mrs. Jack Gray and Jack Gray's mother; Ruth Wade and Aline Woodall.

Benson Freeman traveled from singles handicap and doubles performance right out to the skeet traps and made wonderful showings in all events. Charley Tway was born on Friday 13. He was given added encouragement in the celebration by the performance of his son, Jack, who won his first Georgia singles championship on Friday 13.

And Jack Gray turned over in a canoe on Sunday 13th. But that's another story.

Cusaden Discovers Secret of Skeet.

Arthur Cusaden, well-known professional from Tampa, who says squat skeet shooting is a game designed for fat men to reduce, drove to Atlanta through the rain for two great rounds of skeet and was amazed to find the skeeters in action at the West End gun club.

"I am seeing lots of things I have never seen before, both at Radium Springs and here," he remarked.

Well, as Cusaden stood around in the rain for two great rounds of skeet, he was bawling out the traps at the West End. And he saw P. M. Gilbert break 41, S. W. Roper smash 39, H. O. Davis shatter 34, Dr. O. T. Malone bust 30, and E. P. Pyron locate 18.

In 25-target events H. D. Blackwell broke 16, Duncan Peck slayed seven and L. E. Bader had a like number. The April medal shoot was postponed because of the weather and will be staged next Sunday. There will also be the special match between Benson Freeman and H. J. Fields.

Cusaden, while one of the old guard—a trapshooter—is, according to his own admission, "on the coming skeet shooters of skeetdom."

"I have just figured out the secret of skeet shooting," he said. "Skeet shooting was invented for those who want to reduce, and being of that round type, I guess it is necessary for me to take it up. I have found that you must get a gun with as many shot as possible in your shell and the gun with a barrel not over 20 some odd short inches; then you must walk up to the post, act like you are somebody; take four bending exercises; then squat down to a position that you would not dare take in a duck blind; call pull on the first target and mark on the second. I had my first experience with this champion from every where and I have found that the nearer you can place the seat of your trousers to the ground, the more target you can break or can allow for. It is really very simple, however, and if someone will give me a little encouragement I will learn to shoot this game."

"I have no far to squat to get in the proper position to knock them out."

The child was the second little girl to be taken by the rare malady in the past twenty-four hours. In Memphis, Tenn., yesterday, Willie Mae Miller, also 23 years old, succumbed to the same disease after a hopeless fight for life.

DERBY ENTRIES SHOW FORM IN WORKOUTS

Arrival of Mati Hari Holds Center of Pre-Derby Stage.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 15.—(AP) The arrival of Mati Hari, C. T. Fisher Derby candidate, from Lexington, held the center of the pre-Derby stage here today, but the scanty workouts produced two excellent performances.

Dan Sabath, owned by Al Sabath, of Chicago, worked with Norman D. his stable's secondary Derby candidate, required mile course. Norman D. Sabath did the quarter in :24, half in :48, three-quarters in 1:13 3-5, and then galloped out the mile in 1:42 1-5. Norman D. did the three-quarters in :14 5-8 and finished out the mile in 1:41 5-8. Al Sabath was here to witness the trials.

Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance, working with the older horse, Golden Way, turned in a fine performance. Considered an excellent workout. The pair went as a team, doing the quarter in :25 2-5, half in :50 4-5, three-quarters in 1:16 1-2, and the mile in 1:42 2-5, under double wraps.

Among the other workouts today was a short dash by Fogarty, which did five-eighths of a mile in 1:02 2-5.

Athletics Defeat Phils Again, 4 to 3

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—(AP) The Athletics won the annual city series championship with the Phils today by nailing out the National League, 4 runs to 3.

The victory was the Athletics' third in four games and the final game of the series was witnessed by about 10,000 fans.

The Athletics landed on Bob Kline for two runs in the first inning but the A's forged ahead by thumping Phil Collins for three runs in the fourth. In the eighth the Phils put George Darrow, southpaw from Cleveland, onto the mound but he was cracked for the A's fourth run, given in by Pinky Higgins. In the same inning Bill Dietrich, succeeding Kline, walked Fultz and Jeffries and Hendrick scored Fultz with a single.

Winn and Jordan Meet Here Tonight

Hugh Winn, who claims the Georgia and southern light-heavyweight wrestling titles, will step into the ring tonight at the Fair street arena against a strong opponent, this time meeting Tarzan Jordan.

Winn has a good record. In all, only three men in his class have won a match from him, and few have been able to draw with him. Bill Crusell won from Winn, but Jordan beat Crusell last week and proved that he is now in a position to challenge the champion. Winn's belt and titles will be the prize.

Another match of interest schedules Bill Crusell against Frank Remill, Gadsden, Ala. Remill is not the big type of wrestler, but is tough and a hard man to wear down.

Pete Rogers, rough and ready wrestler from Jacksonville, Fla., will encounter For Rivers in tonight's open er. Rivers is growing in popularity with the fans because of his clean, excellent work.

Tickets for tonight's match can be obtained at the Tumbler stand in the Hurt building.

Mother Prays for Death Of Son, Hurt In Crash

George Wahl Jr., 18, was found crushed beneath his car last Sunday by a forest ranger near Granby.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Flaw in the System.

It's a very fine thing when wives and the play of their husbands at the bridge table, and it is an equally fine thing when husbands feel so highly about the play of their wives that they are willing to make up a foursome and play against them. But here, for the honor of my sex, I think the gentlemen should leave the dealing to nature and not direct it along bold and beaten paths.

The reason for these remarks is a letter I received the other day from Mrs. Warren K. Gilbert and Mrs. Fred E. Kiddle regarding a remark I had made which was dealt by Mr. Gilbert and which resulted in a most amazing set for the ladies. In submitting the hand below Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Kiddle explain to me that they had just completed a course of contract bridge lessons under a teacher who holds one of my certificates and they felt that at least they knew when a two-bid was a two-bid. They were playing a number of hands against their husbands, the ladies having the North and South seats and the gentlemen, the East and West ones. Mr. Gilbert distributed the cards around the table in the following remarkable manner:

East, dealer.
North and south vulnerable.

Mrs. Kiddle

♦ A K Q J
♣ 10 9

Mrs. Gilbert

♥ 10 8 5 4

The ladies, in reporting this, stated that they went down seven tricks at a contract of seven hearts doubled and redoubled and remarked that the penalty was 6,850 points, and that as a result of this disaster they lost the contest and feel that they will ever be able to live it down. They end up with the pertinent query: "What is wrong with your system or our system?"

This is truly a pertinent question, but may I enlighten the ladies with the information—which perhaps before they have obtained from their husbands—that the gentlemen were playing a good old army game on the rocks of distribution. The hand dealt them is one of the most famous in all bridge history. It is what is familiarly known as the "Mississippi heart hand," and with some variations is one of the feature hands of a recent world bridge olympic contest. South's hand, seemingly impregnable, must go to disaster on the rocks of distribution. I do not marvel at all that Mrs. Kiddle, if she was unfamiliar with the hand, thought it was the realization of all her dreams so far as bridge was concerned, and gladly redoubled when West doubled. I am sorry, however—deeply sorry—that I must ask Messrs. Gilbert and Kiddle to permit me to point out the glaring palming of the deck and the setting up of the hand were magnificent, but, after all, a joke can go too far, and a joke that goes too far is one that cannot be played again, and that they can never live down a disaster.

Reich Youth Leader Threatens To Quit

DRESDEN, Germany, April 15.—(AP)—Baldur von Schirach, reich leader of youth, has threatened to resign his post, it was learned today, in protest against the arrest of his subordinate, Franz Schnaeder, a Hitler youth leader of central Germany.

Schnaeder's arrest by local police was the culmination of long friction between the Nazi governor of Saxony, Martin Mutschmann, and divisional Hitler youth headquarters here.

Von Schirach launched an energetic protest with high Nazi officials demanding Schnaeder's unconditional release and making retention of his post contingent upon it.

A view of Von Schirach's personal prestige and the popularity enjoyed by Schnaeder among his charges, the latter's release was expected.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 15.—(AP) Burglars carted away a 400-pound safe containing jewelry and heirlooms valued at between $30,000 and $90,000 from the home of Mrs. Robert C. Scholtz last night.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My boyhood was harassed by the continual quarreling of my parents and before I reached maturity I found myself the sole support of our home. The going was hard yet not once in the six years have I ever voiced one word of complaint or denied the family anything I was able to provide. As a result of the heavy responsibility my outlook on life was not bright. I suffered from the fear that the day would come when I would not be able to carry on; consequently I am old beyond my years. This commonplace existence came to a sudden halt recently. Something within me has broken its bounds. For the first time everything has taken on new significance. Life is considerably brighter. I have tried hard to put the thought of "her" out of my mind, reminding myself that the family must have first consideration. I am anxious to do what is right but thought of slumping back into the old drab existence is more than I can stand. Will you help me? T. H. R.

Answer: One of the stark tragedies of life is the saddling of the burdens of one generation on the succeeding one. Sometimes it is unavoidable but often it is physically incapacitated and selfishness or laziness (sometimes both) of parents who dump their responsibilities on their children. You have not said whether or not your father is physically incapacitated and unable to earn any money. Unless he is he should contribute something to the upkeep of the home. If

Dear Miss Chatfield: It has been nearly two months since I lost the girl I loved and a friend who has been trying to console me tells me that you say it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. Anybody that says this doesn't know the meaning of love. To love and lose is a hell of a lot better than never to have loved at all. It makes one hopeless. There is nothing to look forward to, and nothing to do but brood over the past and read and read and read. Nobody who has had the experience will claim that it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. BEBEET.

Answer: Young man, the poet Tennyson is responsible for the statement to which you take exception and he prefaced it with this line: "I feel it when I sorrow most." It is easy to grieve over a loss, a person cannot think through the darkness of his despair to the light of hope. He must try to be reasonable. When his mind is racked with the agony. But when the sharp pain has passed and reason returns he may be able to agree with the poet.

Unless you happen to be one of those rare men who love but one woman throughout life, you will some day look back with actual pleasure on this love affair that has ended so disastrously. You will recall with infinite satisfaction the affection that the girl awakened in you. You will recall with perfect delight the fun you had together. You will probably laugh at yourself for having taken the jilting so seriously.

At the moment consolation is the last thing you want. You much prefer to sulk over your aching heart and wallow in your grief. So long as you feel this way you mustn't go near a pretty girl or invite the sympathy of a tender-hearted one, else you will topple head over heels in love with one of them and be comforted in spite of yourself.

TRADE PLUMS MAY AID WHEAT REDUCTION PLAN

ROME, April 15.—(AP)—The contents of a French plan to compensate wheat importing countries who reduce their grain acreage was revealed today to The Associated Press.

The plan was embodied in a report which the international wheat advisory commission is submitting to various governments at the suggestion of the French.

The plan would provide for trade compensations by grain exporting countries.

The report begins by stating that the French government demanded that the commission discuss the question of whether commercial advantages could be exchanged among signatories to the London accord in proportion to sacrifices made to assure success of the agreement.

The report then says that the French delegate stated that wheat production could not be arbitrarily separated from agricultural production as a whole.

Consequently, measures taken by certain countries to reduce wheat production necessarily provoked an increase of other productions of the soil, thus there was the problem of disposing of these new products.

It was therefore logical and to the advantage of both parties that wheat exporting countries open their territories for and in proportion to efforts already made by the latter to discipline their production of wheat.

The report then says that the French idea was favorably received by a certain number of delegates, notably the Italians and Germans.
